Natural Gas Connection Fee in South Australia

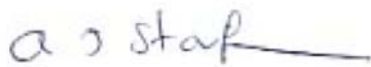

Envestra Limited is the owner of the natural gas distribution network in South Australia. The company is responsible for expanding the distribution system by installing pipes in new subdivisions and extending the existing network. This work also includes connecting new consumers.

Effective 1 August 2009, the Natural Gas Connection Fee for all standard Natural Gas connections in South Australia will increase from $150 plus GST to $154 plus GST*. (*Conditions Apply).

A standard natural gas connection includes a connection from an existing natural gas main located directly in front of the property, to the specified meter position determined by APA Group, as contractors to Envestra Ltd.

Non standard network connection requests, where natural gas does not currently pass the property and network extension is required, will continue to be subject to quotation by APA Group and additional charges may apply.
